Elks win!!

Elk Point Elks wrapped up their first Sask-Alta League championship in five games Monday night, with a huge crowd of hooting, hollering and bell-ringing fans on hand to celebrate Elk Point's 5 - 2 defeat of the Bonnyville Pontiacs.

Excitement mounted during the first period as both teams did their utmost to get on the scoreboard. Greg Desaulniers saw to it that the Elks were first to score, with a power play goal assisted by Dwayne Karbashewski after almost 15 minutes of play. Allan Loughran made it 2 - 0 for the Elks with 42 seconds left on the clock, assisted by team Captain Terry Wozniak. The Elks kept the action near the Bonnyville net for much of the period, with 16 shots on goal as compared to 4 for the Pontiacs.

Alberta seniors benefit - better for some than others

Close to a hundred Elk Point, Heinsburg and surrounding area seniors gained further insight into the proposed Alberta Seniors Benefit Program at an information meeting in Elk Point last Tuesday. Pioneer Circle President Lillian Palinka, who gave a welcoming message, said "if today's input is taken back to the government, this will be an afternoon well spent."

Stephen Montgomery of Alberta Community Development was introduced by MC Sid Holthe. Montgomery brought along a recording secretary to take note of the questions asked and suggestions made by the seniors.

Montgomery said the proposed plan is the outcome of a two year process of consultation with seniors, which wound up with a roundtable in Red Deer last fall. Now, a series of community outreach meetings is underway, gathering input prior until April 9, which will be taken into consideration before the finalization of the plan. The plan goes into effect July 1.

The plan is designed to benefit low income seniors, to streamline administration, and to give a "one window approach" to seniors benefits, with one department dealing with all questions pertaining to the program. There is no means test. Benefits are calculated on a sliding scale recognizing each senior's income. The Department will continue to consult with seniors regarding the program, and regarding ways to help seniors whose circumstances change during the year.

The Seniors Benefit Program will replace the Alberta Assured Income Plan, the Homeowner Tax Rebate and benefits paid to seniors who rent accommodation, the Alberta Health Care Insurance subsidy and Extended Health Benefits program. Seniors will apply each year, listing their income, marital status

Langevin resigns from Liberal caucus

Clare Gauvreau
Staff Writer

Citing irrepressible concerns with the direction the Alberta Liberal Party is taking under the direction of leader Laurence Decore, Lac La Biche - St. Paul MLA Paul Langevin will go before a press conference at 9:30 this morning in the Alberta Legislature to announce his resignation from the provincial Liberal Caucus.

At the same time, he will announce his decision to sit as an Independent MLA in the Legislative Assembly of Alberta - a move which is sure to set the province's political and media tongues wagging, and one which will see Langevin become a party of one in what some will describe as no man's land.

Langevin, who has the support of the local Liberal association executive, announced his intention to the St. Paul Journal Thursday, and, in an exclusive interview Saturday at bay through a 4 minute Elks penalty. However, Roy John got the Pontiacs onto the board just after the Elks regained full strength, off an assist by Garth Campbell. Campbell also did his best to defeat the Elks, coached by his brother Keith, by assisting a second Pontiacs goal later in the period, scored by Harvey Cust. John got the second assist on that power play goal.

SASK ALTA CUP PRESENTED- Sask-Alta Hockey League President Clarence "Jiggs" Goldsmith presented the Sask-Alta Cup to Elks Captain Terry Wozniak after the Elks' exciting 5-3 victory.

The tie going into the third period had the Elks fans chewing their nails for a full nine minutes, until Murray Scoggins had them leaping to their feet in jubilation with his goal, assisted by Jon Olson. Five minutes later, Blair Halfe scored unassisted, with the fans barely ceasing their cheers for that goal before Kelly Harms fired in another one, assisted by Wozniak and Olson, to make it 5-2 for the Elks.

Coach Keith Campbell credits the win to the "total team effort" of his players, who posed ecstatically with the Sask-Alta Cup after its presentation by League President Clarence Goldsmith, and a victory tour around the ice with the trophy hoisted high.

The finals have been somewhat of a family feud for Campbell, who made his coaching debut with the Elks this year. His father George is manager of the Pontiacs, who include brother Garth on their roster.

Elk Point is tremendously proud of these fine young athletes, who have won their first league championship in the history of the Elks team. Way to go, guys!

Langevin leaves caucus

afternoon, expanded on the reasons he felt he has been left with no alternative but to make a decision that in the next few days is sure to prove controversial.

"Some people have told me that I am writing my political future away."

And while that may well be, Langevin said he has been left with no choice but to resign from the party he has supported for more than 20 years, and leave his 31 Liberal MLA colleagues because of irreconcilable differences, both politically and morally, with the direction the leadership has taken since the election.

"Where we do everything contrary to what we campaigned on," he said.

"I am not leaving the party, the party has left what I stand for because of the present leadership. I've been a Liberal longer than any of the members sitting there."

There's been no serious confrontation between Langevin and Decore. Rather, he says, it's been an increasing realization on his behalf that Decore has no intention of fulfilling his election promises.

"The problem is the leadership and his entourage - his three or four close advisors and how do you change that?"

"We campaigned on having an open government and no patronage and I don't see that happening by the leader of the party. Some items that offended me very much were in caucus and, while I'm not privileged to discuss them, they contributed to my decision."

Government fiscal responsibility was the basis of Langevin's campaign platform, it was also that of the party's.

However, Langevin said Decore is failing miserably in following through on his promise to get Alberta working on a balanced budget.

"Every time the present government brings in measures to reduce the budget, we (Liberals) say put more money in - not in all cases, but in most cases. Traditionally, it was the NDP who were negative on every government measure. We don't have to follow that road. I believe that if you're prepared to argue everything government does, you should have an alternative or a plan to offer. Decore doesn't."

Langevin said it is also impossible for Liberal MLAs to exercise a free vote, promised by Decore during the election campaign, unless it is in agreement with the leadership.

Morally, Langevin, said the Liberal Party has an obligation to represent all Albertans, not only "the ridings we were able to capture". He said the Liberals are leaving rural Alberta out in the cold.

"The present organization seems to lack the will to speak up for rural Alberta. We're always more concerned with the urban issues."

As a result, for the immediate future, Langevin said he will be better able to represent this constituency and its residents serving as an Independent, speaking outside the confines of a party leader with views very different to his own.

"I don't know how the system will work. I'm walking in fairly blind and I have to be prepared to face it. In politics, I've never taken my decisions lightly."

Meanwhile, it is important for constituents to note that it will be business as usual at the local constituency office.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING FOR YOUR VOLUNTEERS?

Volunteer Appreciation Week will be celebrated across Canada from April 17 to 23. What do you have planned to recognize and appreciate your volunteers? If you have something planned for your volunteers, call Community Services and we'll help publicize volunteer appreciation activities. Did you know that last year, Elk Point volunteers contributed over 152,915 hours to activities that improve the quality of life in Elk Point? Here are some other facts about volunteerism as well as some quick tips to attract volunteers:

Facts about Volunteerism:

- In 12 months, 5 million Canadians volunteered over 1 billion hours, equal to over one half million full time jobs.
- 40 percent of adults in Alberta volunteer, making Alberta the leading province for volunteers.

- 4 most common reasons people volunteer: to help others; to assist a cause they believe in; to do something they like; and lastly, for the feeling of accomplishment.

- Volunteering increases with age from a low of 20 percent for ages 15 to 24 years, peaks at 37 percent for 35 to 44 year olds, and then declines with advancing age over 65 years.

- Over 63 percent of volunteers are married. There is a significant correlation between volunteerism and longer life and better health.

- Religious organizations, sports and recreation, care and support organizations have the highest numbers of volunteers.

- Volunteerism rises with household income. Thirty nine percent of persons with an income of $60,000 or more do volunteer work, whereas only 18 percent of persons with an income of under $18,000 volunteer.

Quick Tips To Attract Volunteers:

This is a quick test of your program's ability to attract volunteers. Each one of the following items is a motivator for someone. Discover if volunteers can get their needs satisfied by becoming part of your team.

- Satisfied customers? The best way to sell a product is "word of mouth." Your sales staff are currently satisfied volunteers.

- Autonomy? Can volunteers think and operate on their own because you provide clear job descriptions and work guidelines?

- Advancement? Can volunteers "move up" to jobs with increasing responsibility and autonomy?

- Convenience? Are volunteer jobs available that acknowledge the way people live and work in Canada today?

- Money? Some volunteers need money to cover the cost of volunteering: gas money, child care, uniforms, etc.

- How To? Can the volunteer learn new skills? Computers, filing, talking with the public, running an efficient meeting, chairing a Board?

- Credentiaing? Community service, youth service, internships are ways to provide "credit" to people who want to volunteer.

- Self-Actualization? Can the volunteer grow in self-esteem and a sense of self worth?

HARBINGER OF SPRING - Muriel Holthe discovered this hardy Prairie Crocus blooming along the south side of her house last week, and brought it down to share the news that spring has actually sprung! Glad to hear it!

Signs of Spring

Don't look now, but maybe, just maybe it's spring.

The signs are everywhere -- geese winging north, gophers playing chicken with motorists, starlings and crows perched on fenceposts, shrinking snowbanks and growing puddles, and yes, even a brave crocus or two poking its head out of the soil.

Youngsters are enjoying a week's freedom from their classrooms, and are out riding their bikes, playing catch and splash-ing their way through the runoff.

And then there's that sure sign, which we see every year about this time: newspapers, and especially the farm publications, are just chock-full of advertising for farm auction sales. The voice of the auctioneer rings clear in the warm air, while farmers escape from checking cows and doing chores for a few hours to track down a few bargains and enjoy the fellowship.

We're not going to fool ourselves and say, that's the last of the snow for this year -- Albertans know better. But we'll enjoy it while we can, and know that spring, if not here for good, will be soon. Enjoy!

Cheri Lindquist award finalist

F. G. Miller High School teacher Cheri Lindquist is among 125 finalists in this year's Excellence in Teaching awards program. Ms Lindquist teaches Grade 7 to 10 Home Economics, Career and Life Management 20 and Grade 8 Health at the school. Mrs. Lindquist has taught for nine years at schools in Stettler, St. Albert and Elk Point. Being nominated for the award is "exciting - to know someone has actually gone and done it. It isn't that we teach to win awards. We're there for the kids, and we feel we have done a good job, but it's a bonus when people acknowledge us in this way - it makes it all worthwhile."

Teaching Home Economics is "really enjoyable," Mrs. Lindquist says. "You have lots of range for ideas and projects, and the students can use their creativity. It's not structured, with just a textbook and scribbler, like some subjects. There are lots of interesting things to do."

The program, sponsored by Xerox Canada, the Calgary Herald, Edmonton Journal, AGT, Syncrude Canada and the Alberta Chamber of Commerce, honors teachers who are competent, creative and caring and who make a difference in the lives of their students by their extra efforts to provide students with a quality education.

The names of the twenty teachers who will receive Provincial Excellence in Teaching awards will be announced on April 7.

SHOWING HOW IT'S DONE - F. G. Miller Home Economics teacher Cheri Lindquist instructs student Bryce Sereda in the use of the back stitch on a craft project.

Letter to the Editor

Ukrainian folk tales wanted

Dear Editor:

I am working on two projects which require as much public input as possible. Firstly, I am collecting and retelling, in English, Ukrainian folk tales or fairy tales to be published in a series of children's books. The other project consists of humorous personal anecdotes or stories which will be written into short stories depicting the fun side of the Ukrainian experience in Canada. I would like to ask that anyone with any such stories send them to me.

The stories can be: 1) in Ukrainian or English; 2) written down, with the date and storyteller noted; 3) recorded onto cassettes, with the date and storyteller noted; 4) published in books, magazines, newspapers or other print form.

In all cases, I will need permission to use the stories.

In all cases, I would like to know, if possible, the area of Ukraine or Canada the stories came from and the approximate date they originated.

Please send the stories to: Danny Evanishen, Box 1324, Summerland, B.C., V0H 1Z0. Fax (604) 494-3205.

Thank you for your help with these very exciting projects.

Yours truly
Danny Evanishen

The World comes to Heinsburg

Heinsburg Community School played host to guests from around the world at its multicultural day on Wednesday, March 16.

To begin the afternoon, students from grades one to twelve watched slides taken by teacher Terry Fleming on her many trips across the globe. A very quick peek at Africa, Asia, and South America introduced everyone to different cultures and landscapes.

Following the slide presentation, each student chose to attend two sessions from a list of China, Denmark, French Canada, Germany, Ireland, Kenya, Korea, Mennonite Canada, Native Canada, New Zealand, Norway, and the Ukraine. Community members who have lived in, travelled to, or have a strong interest in these cultures and countries led the sessions. Activities included showing national costumes, displaying currency, teaching songs, braiding hair, cooking food, telling stories, painting faces, and dying fabric, to name a few.

The afternoon ended with a performance from five very energetic young highland dancers, who displayed their talents in the gym for all of the students.

Students enjoyed the opportunity to learn more about their world, and to meet first hand some people who have lived or travelled in many countries.

Heinsburg Community School would like to thank the presenters: from Denmark, Else Sanders, and Christian Jensen; from French Canada, Yvonne Pelchat; from Germany, Eva Mirback; for Ireland, Sherry Pelech; for Kenya, Terry Fleming; from Korea, Eric Kim; for Mennonite Canada, Loretta Toews, and Rayma Isaac; for Native Canada, Pat Makokis and two students; for New Zealand, Sheri Durnin; from Norway, Alec Gunlag, and Arne Glambeck; and for the Ukraine, Billie Milholland.

CALLING ALL COACHES!

It's finally spring! The schedule for the 1994 Spring and Summer NCCP Theory and Technical courses is available at Community Services. Call 724-3800 for more information.

The National Coaching Certification Program is a program designed to train and further educate coaches across the country.

It provides coaches at all levels with a systematic way to improve their knowledge and skills in the theoretical, technical, and practical aspects of coaching.

Theory:

The content of the Theory course is basic to the broader education of the program. Topics such as leadership and communication, growth and development, psychology of sport, skill analysis, sport safety and training are covered in increasing depth from Level 1 upwards. At levels 1 and 2, coaches who participate in all sessions will receive credit for that level.

Technical:

These courses apply coaching principles to a particular sport. Skills, drills, training methods, strategy and tactics, detection and correction of errors, plus psychological preparation are some of the topics covered in this component.

Practical:

The coach now takes all the knowledge acquired in the theory and technical components and applies it to the real coaching environment. The additional experience gained from a coaching involvement will produce the desire for more information found in higher level courses.

For more information on the Technical and Practical components, please contact the specific provincial sport association.

What's News at the Library?

Easter Egg hunters in the library

On March 25th the library was the scene of a storytime party to celebrate Easter. Easter-related stories were told and a hunt for milk chocolate Easter eggs went on in the stacks. I wouldn't be surprised if there are still a few candies hiding there. The party concluded with coloring and treats. Thanks to the parents who brought cupcakes and other goodies for the kids. A great big thank you to everyone who came and had a good time.

Visitors to the library may notice that the paperback section is in a state of transition. We are gradually reorganizing the paperbacks by genre. All the westerns will be located together, all the mysteries, etc.... We hope this will make it easier for you to find the type of books you like to read. Maybe you will discover a new favorite author.

Late last year, the library received funds from Elk Point

Community Services and the County of St. Paul FCSS to purchase books. The books ordered are on various health and lifestyle issues. Some of them arrived this past week.

Stress is a major concern, and these books on dealing with stress may help. Women and Stress by Lean Lush and Pam Vredevelt looks at stress management from a woman's perspective. Areas covered include: marriage, children, jobs and the various phases of life.

C. W. Metcalf takes a serious look at the lighter approach to stress management in Lighten Up. Based on the workshops he leads for major corporations, he takes the reader through the skills needed to cope with today's tough times. Metcalf shows how to take yourself lightly while taking your problems seriously.

Kids also feel stress. Kids

Have Feelings Too! by H. Norman Wright and Gary J. Oliver talks about the importance of ensuring that your child's emotions are properly developed and how to help your child develop his or her emotions properly.

LIBRARY CALENDAR

Sun. April 24 - Friends of the Library are working an afternoon bingo. Volunteers will have to be there at 11 a.m.

Anyone interested in helping out can sign up at the library.

DID YOU KNOW?

Ivan the Terrible, the first ruler of Russia to adopt the title Tzar, wasn't as bad as his nickname suggests. From 1547 until the death of his beloved wife in 1560, Ivan wasn't a terrible tyrant. Shows you what effect the love of a good woman can have.

Friends plan for spring

The Friends of the Forts met March 1, and got plans underway for the coming season.

The Friends have been invited to put up a display at the FCSS Conference which will be held in Elk Point on April 15 and 16. They agreed to not only have a display, but to host a Spring Tea at the Forts from 1 to 4 p.m. on the afternoon of Saturday, April 16, with the $5 fee including site admission, refreshments and Interpretive Centre tour. Information on the Tea will be included in the Conference material. The event will also be open to the public.

Friends volunteers also plan to take the Fort's display to St. Paul and Elk Point Co-op stores during the first week of May, to acquaint the public with the facility and the activities which are coming up there this summer. They will also offer Friends memberships at that time.

Another wagon train for the St. Paul Abilities Network is planned this year, and will be making their overnight camp at the Forts on May 28.

The Friends agreed to assist with McGilvery Family Reunion, which will centre around the Forts, by accepting registrations for the event scheduled for July 30 and 31. The two day event will feature a pancake breakfast, a barbecue, competitions and other activities, and is already getting a lot of interest.

Louise Crane, who was leaving the site March 11, thanked the Friends for all their assistance during her two years at Fort George - t Buckingham House, and assured them she would be back as a volunteer for the Heritage Day weekend event.

The next meeting of Friends of the Forts will be April 5.

In Memoriam

BUKSA, Mike

In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away April 9, 1993.

It's one year since we had to part
And no relief within my heart
Wherever we want, whatever we did

It was always me and you
The beautiful years I had are
The kind I never knew
We planned our life and our little empire

with love and tender care
Just you and me as it used to be.
Often I travel past your resting place as all alone I roam.

Only God knows how I feel to know you will never come home.

You were my loving husband, my companion and my friend

The sorrow you left me will never end.

Always remembered and sadly missed by your wife, Tashka and son Edward.

Alberta seniors benefit

and type of accommodation utilized. The amount of benefits available will be calculated from these factors. Beneficiaries under the Alberta Assured Income Plan will receive their final cheque at the end of June, and it is anticipated that all these beneficiaries will receive cheques from the new program in July.

Cash benefits geared to income level will go to single seniors who have an annual income of less than $17,000 per year, two-senior couples with less than $25,000 and one-senior couples with a total family income of less than $17,000 per year. Depending on whether the senior(s) are homeowners, home/apartment or mobile home renters, or lodge, nursing home or subsidized apartment residents, the maximum benefits range from $105.50 for a single in a subsidized lodge, nursing home or apartment, to $311.00 for a two-senior couple who rent a non-subsidized apartment or a house. Renters of regular or mobile homes receive the most because rental support has always been higher than the old homeowner tax rebates, while lodge, nursing home and subsidized apartment residents will receive the least because their shelter costs are already reduced by government subsidies. Senior homeowners will complete an application form for tax reduction, which will pay the municipality $325 toward their taxes and will also allow seniors to defer up to $325 of their taxes to December 31, 1994. This deferral will be for one time only, and will assist the seniors in the transition.

Regarding health care insurance, single seniors with an income falling below the $17,000 minimum, two-senior couples with income below $25,000 and one-senior couples with income below $19,800 will be fully subsidized. A single senior with income over $18,200, a two-senior couple with income over $27,600 and a one-senior couple with income over $25,500 will pay full premiums of $384 per adult. Those with income between minimum and maximum amounts will pay partial premiums.

The existing Extended Health Benefits package will increase slightly for those under the minimum income levels, but will decrease to zero for those over the maximum. The current program will remain in effect until July 1, 1994, and any senior who has begun a course of treatment or ordered glasses before that date will continue to receive benefit provided the treatment is completed or glasses delivered by December 31, 1994. If a senior is eligible for assistance with purchasing dentures, application for assistance may be made after the July 1 deadline, but treatment must commence before December 31, 1994 and be complete by March 31, 1995.

Prescription fees change.

Another change for seniors will be regarding prescription drugs. Rather than the 20 percent of prescription cost seniors now pay, the cost will be divided into two components, with the government paying the actual cost of the drugs and the senior paying the cost of dispensing the prescription, to a maximum of $9.70.

A number of questions were asked regarding prescriptions. Seniors were told that there would not be a maximum number for prescriptions but that they will have to pay the dispensing fee each time. It was noted that if the patient were able to get one prescription covering several months, rather than getting it refilled every two weeks or one month, it would save dispensing fees and bookwork.

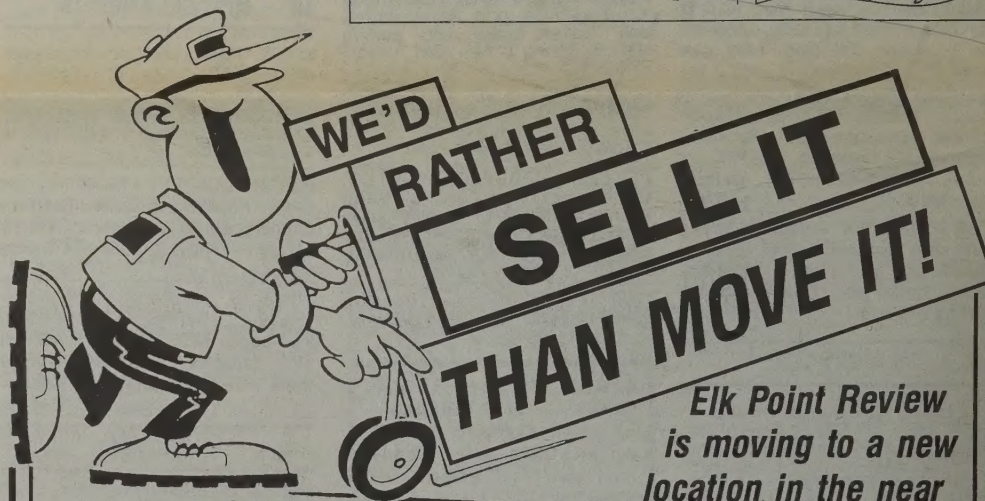

A tongue-in-cheek suggestion was made that senior couples seek divorces so each would be allowed the $17,000 maximum income. While the two-senior-couple maximum of $25,000 was considered "far too great a spread," the one-senior-couple maximum of $17,000 ($19,800 for Health Care) was felt to be even worse, with more than one couple in that category mentioning that they felt discriminated against.

Accommodation in seniors' lodges is expected to become more expensive, with an anticipated 25 to 28 percent increase. This has no connection to the seniors benefit program, and Montgomery said it has not been totally worked out yet. He added that there may also be some provision for support in regard to this, but that it would not come from the benefit program. "Support for lodges is distinct and apart." Nursing home rates are also expected to climb between $1.70 and $3.25 per day, depending on the type of accommodation, but will still be the lowest in Canada for this type of care.

The base income referred to in calculations consists of Old Age Security, Guaranteed Income Supplement, Canada Pension, GST Rebates, private pensions and annuities, capital gains, income from investment, and net income from farming, fishing, business or profession, or commission. Alimony, disability payments and disability pensions are not included in this income figure.

NORCEN ASSISTS TENNIS CLUB - Tennis Club President Jim Hawkins was pleased to accept a $200 donation from Don Pavka, representing Norcen Energy Resources and their wholly-owned subsidiary, Superior Propane. The funds will go toward this year's instructional program.
